Holly is an Associate in the Commercial Litigation, Civil Fraud and Asset Tracing department.

Since joining the department, Holly has worked on a number of complex fraud cases including High Court litigation with parallel civil and criminal proceedings in multiple jurisdictions.

During her training, Holly spent a year in the business crime department where she worked on an internal investigation into bribery and corruption, and defending an individual facing criminal proceedings brought by the Insolvency Service. She has also completed a secondment at specialist employment and partnership firm, where she gained experience of advising firms and senior executives dealing with allegations of financial and other wrongdoing.

Prior to joining the firm, Holly worked on strategic litigation at Argentina's leading human rights organisation, and as a freelance Spanish and Portuguese legal translator. She has a First Class degree in Modern History from Balliol College, Oxford and an LLM in International Human Rights Law, also from Oxford University, where she was Banco Santander Scholar and graduated first in her year.
